A Concert Party for the Whole Family

An indie pop-rock band for all insects and ages, Bee Parks and the Hornets perform high-energy shows that combine rockin' music, puppetry, and audience participation to inspire young people to get up and move — both with their feet and in their communities. With all-original songs that promote kindness, equality, self-confidence, social justice, environmental awareness and dancing your heart out, Bee Parks and the Hornets take audience members of all ages on a musical adventure that will open up spirits and imaginations.
